

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An image forming apparatus has an image forming section for forming an image in a plurality of operational modes and a
5 display device for executing display in a plurality of colors. Color information corresponding to the plurality of operational modes is stored in a memory. A CPU reads color information corresponding to an operational mode to be executed from the memory and controls the color to be 10 displayed on the display device.